A. SHORT LESSON NOTES · Why validate? · Three tools

Do not guess what buyers want. Validate means check with real customers before you spend time or money.

The three tools (Week 9 plan)

Interview: A 1-on-1 talk for deep answers and stories. Use when you need details from one person.
FGD (Focus Group Discussion): A small group talk (about 6–8 people) on one topic. Use when you want many views in one sitting.
Survey: Short written questions given to many people. Use when you need numbers you can tally fast.

Simple steps / tips

Interview steps: Greet → ask permission → ask open questions → listen → write short notes → thank.
Open vs closed: Open = What / When / How (many answers). Closed = yes/no or one word (quick check only).
Good manners: Polite tone; do not interrupt; do not argue with the answer; thank the person.
FGD roles: Facilitator keeps talk on topic and gives turns. Note-taker writes key words, not every sentence.
Survey tip: Keep 4–6 short items. Prefer closed or scale choices so answers are easy to count.
Honesty tip: Do not put words in the customer's mouth. Drop leading questions like "Don't you like our product?"

B. KEY TERMS (teacher-made notes for Week 9 plan — not from a DepEd module)

Validate — Check a customer concern with real buyers; do not guess.
Interview — One-on-one talk that aims for deep, detailed answers.
FGD — Focus group discussion — about 6–8 people talking on one topic.
Survey — Same short written questions for many people; easy to tally.
Open question — Invites many answers; often starts with What, When, or How.
Closed question — Yes/no or one-word answer; useful for a quick check.
Leading question — Pushes one answer (example: "Don't you want ice at 6 AM?"). Avoid it.
Facilitator — Person who greets, stays on topic, and gives everyone a turn in an FGD.
Note-taker — Person who records key words and answers during an FGD.
Tally — Mark each answer, then add (example: 14 of 20).
Finding — One clear result from your talk or survey that can guide Product or Price later.

C. WORKED EXAMPLES · Roxas City / Capiz contexts

Example 1 — Interview (Roxas City public market · diwal / oyster seller)

Goal: Check when diwal sellers need crushed ice so stock stays fresh.
Weak (leading): "Don't you want ice delivery at noon?"
Better (open): "What time of day do you need ice for your diwal?"
Also useful: "What do you use now to keep diwal cold?" · "What would make ice delivery worth paying for?"
Tip: Write short notes (key words), not a full essay.

Example 2 — FGD (Baybay-area food stall · grilled seafood)

Topic (one only): How buyers choose a grilled-seafood stall near Baybay.
Group size: about 6–8 nearby vendors or regular buyers.
Sample FGD questions:
1) When do you usually buy grilled seafood at Baybay?
2) What problems make you skip a stall?
3) What would make you try a new stall?
Facilitator: greet, stay on topic, give every member a turn. Note-taker: write key words.

Example 3 — Survey + tally (school canteen · calamansi juice / piaya snack idea)

Target: Bago NHS learners who buy at the canteen (same market for all 4 items).
Item 1 — Drink choice: ☐ calamansi juice ☐ soft drink ☐ water ☐ other
Item 2 — Would you buy piaya as a snack? ☐ yes ☐ no
Item 3 — Fair price for one serving? ☐ ₱10 ☐ ₱15 ☐ ₱20 ☐ not sure
Item 4 — Best time to sell? ☐ recess ☐ lunch ☐ after class
Sample tally (example numbers only): 12 of 20 chose calamansi juice → write 12 / 20.
Finding example: Most want calamansi at recess — this can guide Product and Place later.

REMEMBER

Validate = check with real customers. Do not guess. Do not copy a rival blindly.
Pick the tool that fits: interview (deep / 1 person) · FGD (many views / one topic) · survey (numbers / many people).
Ask open questions (What / When / How). Drop leading and yes-only questions when you need deep answers.
